Major Stryker is an extremely mediocre shoot them up arcade game. In 80s games like 1943: the Battle of Midway and Tiger Heli did it a lot better than this at 90s. Do not buy this one if you don't search nostalgic way back to childhood days when you played this one.. old game, but ok. Your ship's hitbox is massive, larger than the ship itself. This game didn't age well in the slightest. Slow, clunky, unnecessarily difficult, no fun.. Pretty good, yes it's ugly and clunky but still playable and fun :). It's an MS-DOS classic. EGA Graphics, Adlib music, Soundblaster sound effects. All the classic look and sound of the era. Also relatively short, as is typical for games of the time. An episode can be finished in around an hour if you don't get killed too often.

Apogee did the right thing by releasing it using DOSBox, though I can't say the same for the fact they took the approach of stretching the picture rather than presenting in its native aspect ratio. Fortunately, it's something that can easily be fixed with a simple edit of a config file.

Still, if you like vertical-scrolling shooters, it's worth playing and isn't too hard. I played through episode 2 on Easy difficulty with keyboard-only input before writing this review and had 32 lives by the time I got to the end-of-episode boss (and lost three over the course of the fight).. old game, but ok. If you are a space shooter looking for a challenge, look no further. This game is well put together. My only complaints deal with the confusing EGA color palette. Sometimes the foreground and the background colors blend together and makes things confusing.. It's a very fun MS-DOS Classic game to play since I was Child.

As for the Storyline, it's painlessly simple: Earth Survives WW3 with most of humanity dead & plagued by a lack of Resources. Then an Alien Race known as the Kretons jump to Earth using a Wormhole and plans to conquer it as if things weren't bad enough. So the call goes out to Major Harrison Stryker, a hero of the Recent World War who takes a Special Attack Starship into the Wormhole to destroy the Kreton Homeworlds on the other side. The Problem is that the Kretons have also taken Human Hostages and you need to free them by ramming into their Holding Cells using your ship since they're immune to Weapon Fire.

With a Total of 24 Levels: 12 Stages & 12 Boss Battles, you'll be blasting the Kretons to Atoms again and again. There's 4 Sectors for each Episode that contains 2 Levels in each Sector & a boss battle for each one:

The Lava Planet contains: The Orbital Station, Water Sector, Land Sector & Lava Sector

The Arctic Planet contains: The Arctic Sector, Land Sector, City Sector & Lava Sector

The Desert Planet contains: The Orbital Station, Desert Sector, Lava Sector & Tech Sector
